

On September 14, 1978 Terry met for more than an hour with Yonkers Police detectives. They were: Det. Sgt. Bianco, Det. Sgt. Hernandez, and Det. Surlak. Yonkers police contacted Terry the day before because he had told Westchester Sheriff Criminal Investigation Bureau Chief Sal D'Iorio that dead German shepherds had been found behind Berkowitz' and Carr's homes well after Berkowitz was arrested. The implication was clear---Berkowitz wasn't the only one in that neighborhood that had a problem about German shepherds. As a result of the meeting, Yonkers PD has been quietly looking into the Sam case---again. In essence, the case has been reopened on a limited basis in Yonkers. The dead dogs are key to the Son of Sam case.

Also, during that meeting, Yonkers police confirmed:

1. Sam Carr is lying about all the things mentioned previously in this package. The writers are correct.
2. Glassman is also lying about all the things mentioned previously in this package. The writers are correct.
3. In addition, Yonkers PD gave Terry a glaring example of another Carr family lie. It is this: when Yonkers PD was given the name of John Carr by NYPD (after Terry/Post gave it to them), Yonkers brought Carr in to question him about John. Carr told them they couldn't get in touch with John, since he was "travelling around the country". This is false. Carr was in North Dakota, at an address, and was easily reachable.
4. Yonkers PD also told Terry that Michael Carr and the daughter, Wheat, didn't want cops to talk to John---anytime. They tried to discourage them. Yonkers never did get to John, and now he's dead.
5. Yonkers cops said, off the record, that they feel both Glassman and Michael Carr are gay. This, if true, would answer questions raised elsewhere in this package, and may be the common denominator uniting these people---and the reason the killings occurred...a demented homosexual group.
6. Yonkers cops also said they thought the bullet in Carr's dog (covered earlier) was quite possibly from the .44. This, they said, is based on seeing the size of the bullet in x-rays. If so, it again points a strange finger at why Carr flatly refuses to have that bullet removed from the dog. Berk-45

7. Yonkers PD also confirmed that cops did call wanting Berkowitz only as a potential witness to the Moskowitz killing (covered later). They did not want him as a possible suspect. Rifle
8. The cops also said that NYPD wasn't going to investigate any tickets at the Moskowitz scene until Mrs. Davis (covered later) threatened to call Jimmy Breslin to tell him that a ticket was given out and was not being checked.
9. Yonkers also confirmed that Det. Ed Zigo, who is widely assumed to have arrested Berkowitz (mustachoid detective in all the photos) wasn't even on the scene when the arrest occurred. He was sitting in Yonkers PD.
